

Is there only one world in our world??? I can seriously tell you, NO. Me, a very normal and tiny child. Before that mysterious night, everything was fixed and regular. I went to school by bus, enjoyed my boring lessons, quarreled with other classmates.....Those were very ordinary days that I loved. I had been thinking about how I would be safe, happy every day ever after that. But, I was wrong.. Totally wrong. Let me tell you what happened.

One day, after I finished brushing my teeth, I went to bed, closed my eyes and listened to the wind blow slowly outside the window. I was also thinking about my uncompleted homework. One hour passed...two hours passed...then the third.....Why I didn't feel sleepy? Sadly, no one told me why. I opened both of my eyes and looked at the clock. Tik tok, tik tok...It was nearly twelve o' clock. Then, I saw a ray of light race across the night through my window. I remembered someone had told me that something special always happens in the moment of a shooting star. But, I knew that that was only a joke that elders always told the kids to made them happy. We were in the 21st century. There was no magic in this world. I wouldn't believe in those silly jokes.

But, I felt dizzy after seeing the star. My sight had become unclear, and I was whirling by a supernatural power so fast.....

After a long time of whirling, the view became clear again. But, where was I? I could not find my lovely, warm bed, my favorite poster was not on my wall. I only knew that I was in a place that was a grassland. A grassland of which I couldn't find the end. Only a river existed. Some birds were flying through the sky. I saw grass and more grass and even more grass and a fairy. Wait. What? A fairy? Yes, I saw fairy near the river. My brain didn't believe my eyes. The fairies wore flower dresses. Red, orange, yellow, green.....They sang and danced. I could not control my curiosity. I walked closer and closer toward them. "Hi?" "I asked. Those fairies suddenly stopped upon hearing my voice. No music anymore, no songs anymore. They became very quiet. After a while, one of them stood up. She was dressed in a pink flower that was quite cute. Then, she asked me, 'Are you human?' I replied, "You guess."

Silent again. Okay, I am fine.

"Yes, I am human. Can you tell me where this place is?" I asked in a desperate way.

"Are you really human?" the pink lady asked softly.

"Yes."

"How did you get here?"

“I don’t know.”

“.....”

“You cannot be in this place. You must return to your world,” the pink lady told me.

“I also want to go home. But. How? “

“Please, close your eyes. You cannot see the magic. I will send you back.”

“Okay.” I closed my eyes.

Then, I could only heard someone slowly whispering. It seemed like the pink lady was singing a spell. But, there was no time to think more about it because my head became heavier and heavier. Time passed, I could feel my body was flying upside down and then kept rotating faster and faster. Yeah!!! It’s time to go back home. I was really really missing my old life. I needed to go to school by bus, enjoy my boring lessons, quarrel with other classmate tomorrow. So, please stop wasting my time here.

Bump! It was the sound of my body hitting the ground. Oh! My poor little butt. Then, I found that the pain of my butt wasn't the scariest part of this world. I was still here in the grassland. Whyyyyy???

I glared at the pink lady, "Hey! Are you really helping me?"

"I don't know either. It is the first time I have used my magic!" the pink lady cried.

"Can you fix it?"

"No."

"Umm...maybe there is a way that I could help you get back," the lady sobbed.

"How?"

"You need to find the queen of this country. Her power is greater than everyone's here. Are you going to find her?" the fairy asked me.

"Of course! Yes!" If I didn't try, how could I get back home? Although I knew that the way would be very hard and difficult, no matter how hard it was, I must try!

“OK. What you need to do is to pass through this grassland along that river. Find a bird whose name is A Black Bird. Then it will bring you to find the queen.”

So, my trip following a river to find a bird to see the queen started.

The river wasn't too deep. I could touch its bottom. I could see some fish swimming freely in the clear water. The river wasn't too wide either. I could jump from one side to the other side. I walked and walked for a long time, thinking about the dinner before. Finally, I reached the end of the river.

At the end of the river, there was no more grass. The grassland had been replaced by sand. Oh. I had arrived at a beach. The sea beside it was so blue. I saw mermaids playing with bubbles far away from me. They were beautiful. Long, blue hair with shiny tails. But, I was not going to join them. The point I need to concentrate on was not those mermaids. The most important thing was to find the bird which had a very rare name.

I looked around. NO Birds. I cried out, "Hey. Who is A Black Bird???"

"HI! Who is looking for me? I am here, here!" A voice answered me.

I saw nothing.

"Here!!! Here!!! Yes! Look upward! Ah ha! I am here! Oh! You found me!!!"

I followed the voice and found that there was a very big bird standing on a cloud. That bird flew to me by standing on the cloud. “Hey, bro. You are a bird. You have wings. You can fly. What are you doing then?” I whispered in my brain. There was a very tall hat on the bird’s head. He jumped off of the cloud and asked me,

“Are you human?”

“What will happen if I say NO?”

“Nothing will happen.”

“I am Godzilla.”

””

“I am a real human. I want to get back to my sweet home. A fairy dressed in a pink dress told me that you could help me. I want to see the queen of this place.” I said.

Silence.

“Are you sure?” A Black Bird asked me.

“Yup. I know that it must be hard work to find the queen, but I still need her.” The bird seemed like he was unwilling to take me to see the queen. I needed more words to express my feelings.

“OK. I will take you,” he answered as I was brainstorming. His sudden decision scared me. But it was good news for me.

“Oh~~~ Thank you very much~~~” I thanked him.

So, my trip to see the queen started. A Black Bird first clapped his wings. Then, a gust of wind blew. It was so soft and cold. The wind got stronger and heavier very slowly. I opened my arms to look like a flying bird. The wind flew me higher and higher. I flew in the sky. I could touch the clouds nearby. A Black Bird kept standing on the cloud beside me. Our speed was very fast.

Finally, a castle appeared in our sights. The castle was covered in gold. Crystals were very shiny and nearly blinded my eyes. I squinted my eyes and landed on the stairs in front of the castle. At the top of the stairs, there was a beautiful lady dressed in a gorgeous robe. A crown with gold and gems was on her head. She must be the queen!

“Nice to meet you, my beautiful and nice queen. I am a human who mistakenly got into this world. Someone told me that you can help me go back home. I know you have very great power which can save me. Would you help a poor child like me?” I asked the queen gratefully.

“I can help you go home. But you need to answer three questions. If you get all of them correct, I will let you go. But on the other hand, if you miss any one of them, you need to stay here and be my servant ever after. Can you accept that? If you don’t, you have no more choice to escape from here,” the queen explained.

What the hell?! I am only a child. My knowledge is limited. OH, oh! I would need to be a servant here for the rest of my life. Mammy~I miss you~~~

“Number one, who is the most beautiful woman in the world?” Not giving me any time, the queen started her asking her questions very quickly.

Arrrr. Are you the queen from Snow White? I thought you would ask me some deep questions, like ‘what is the meaning of our existence’ and ‘what is human nature’, etc. But, I still didn’t know the answer!!!

” Um.....Maybe..... You? My queen.” I replied.

“Correct. Then, the next. Who is the most brilliant in the world?”

Correct answer. Oh! I got it. But, my queen are you really sure that was the correct answer? My queen, you are full of yourself. Hey, please don’t tell me that the answer of the other question is still.....

“Also you?”

“Perfect. You have surprised me. The third one, who is the kindest in the world? Please think carefully. It is a very difficult question. “

“Ha ha ha. You.” I replied again.

“How could you answer all the questions correctly? I really appreciate you. OK. Now as I promised before, I will take you home. Please follow me.” The queen walked me into the castle while talking to me.

Walking into the castle, I entered a lobby. I saw a very big door inside the lobby. The door was so bright. I could feel many magic power coming from the door. The queen looked at me and said,

“Here is the door which connects to your world. Walk inside and go ahead. Then you will find you are back.”

“There are no words that can describe my feelings. My heart is full of gratitude to you, my queen.” I cried.

After thanking the queen, I walked into the door and disappeared.

I opened my eyes and saw a ray of light. This was light from the sun. I was in my bed. I could see my favorite posters on the wall of my room. Hey! I am back. Oh! I started my life again. But I won't forget all the things I did in the other world.
